

Here are playful insults along the lines of "When you were born, ...":

When you were born, the doctor slapped your parents.

When you were born, the hospital gave your parents an apology letter.

When you were born, even your mom said, "Let's try again."

When you were born, the doctor turned around and slapped your dad.

When you were born, the nurses needed therapy.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Oops, let's put it back."

When you were born, the hospital switched you with a potato and no one noticed.

When you were born, the doctor asked for a blindfold.

When you were born, your mom said, "What a treasure," and your dad said, "Let's bury it."

When you were born, the nurse passed out.

When you were born, the doctor quit his job.

When you were born, they put a bag over your head for your first photo.

When you were born, even the stork flew away in horror.

When you were born, the doctor used forceps to put you back.

When you were born, the doctor asked, "Is this a joke?"

When you were born, the hospital offered a refund.

When you were born, the nurse asked, "Did we lose a bet?"

When you were born, the doctor gave you a blindfold.

When you were born, the doctor turned to your parents and said, "Congratulations, it's an it."

When you were born, the hospital handed out barf bags.

When you were born, the doctor shouted, "It's alive!"

When you were born, the nurse ran away screaming.

When you were born, your parents asked if there was a return policy.

When you were born, the doctor said, "We need more light. Actually, no, less light."

When you were born, the hospital issued a tsunami warning.

When you were born, even the delivery room curtains closed themselves.

When you were born, the doctor asked for a pay raise.

When you were born, the hospital needed a moment of silence.

When you were born, the doctor wore sunglasses.

When you were born, the nurse used earmuffs and a blindfold.

When you were born, the delivery room lights dimmed automatically.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Looks like we're gonna need a bigger bassinet."

When you were born, the hospital ran out of aspirin.

When you were born, the doctor asked if this was a prank.

When you were born, the operating table tried to escape.

When you were born, the doctor said, "I've seen it all now."

When you were born, the hospital's power went out.

When you were born, the doctor tried to put you back in.

When you were born, even the incubator sighed.

When you were born, the delivery room needed a hazmat team.

When you were born, the doctor said, "We need more anesthesia."

When you were born, the doctor tried to deliver you to another hospital.

When you were born, the stork got a restraining order.

When you were born, the doctor needed a stiff drink.

When you were born, the nurse asked, "Are we sure this is human?"

When you were born, the delivery room had to be fumigated.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Welcome to the dark side."

When you were born, the doctor asked for hazard pay.

When you were born, the hospital hired a horror movie director.

When you were born, the doctor turned to the nurse and said, "I need a vacation."

When you were born, the doctor needed counseling.

When you were born, the hospital asked for a do-over.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Congratulations, it's a... thing."

When you were born, the nurse needed a vacation.

When you were born, the doctor recommended a return policy.

When you were born, the hospital called in a priest.

When you were born, the stork asked for a pay raise.

When you were born, the doctor wore a hazmat suit.

When you were born, the delivery room requested backup.

When you were born, the doctor put on sunglasses and said, "This is going to be bright."

When you were born, the hospital called for backup from the fire department.

When you were born, even the hospital security needed therapy.

When you were born, the doctor handed you a map and said, "Good luck."

When you were born, the nurse screamed, "It's alive!"

When you were born, the doctor immediately called a scientist.

When you were born, the hospital staff took a group photo—for evidence.

When you were born, the doctor asked, "Where's the instruction manual?"

When you were born, the nurse needed an exorcist.

When you were born, the doctor said, "I've got to see this to believe it."

When you were born, the hospital put up a warning sign.

When you were born, the doctor handed you a mirror and sighed.

When you were born, the nurse asked, "Is this a new species?"

When you were born, the hospital declared an emergency.

When you were born, the doctor gave your parents his condolences.

When you were born, the stork got fired.

When you were born, the doctor shouted, "Abort mission!"

When you were born, the hospital had to change its protocols.

When you were born, the doctor recommended a mask—for everyone.

When you were born, the delivery room was declared a disaster zone.

When you were born, the doctor handed you to the wrong parents—intentionally.

When you were born, the nurse called for backup from the animal control.

When you were born, the doctor asked, "Is this a new record?"

When you were born, the hospital staff took a moment of silence.

When you were born, the doctor handed you a helmet.

When you were born, the nurse checked the calendar to see if it was Halloween.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Prepare for impact!"

When you were born, the hospital needed to fumigate the delivery room.

When you were born, the doctor wore goggles.

When you were born, the nurse asked, "Is this a test?"

When you were born, the doctor called for a lifeline.

When you were born, the hospital staff signed non-disclosure agreements.

When you were born, the doctor handed you a parachute.

When you were born, the nurse fainted—twice.

When you were born, the doctor turned to the nurse and said, "We need a manual."

When you were born, the hospital declared a code red.

When you were born, the doctor gave you a participation trophy.

When you were born, the nurse called for a search and rescue team.

When you were born, the doctor suggested a name change.

When you were born, the hospital staff wore earplugs and blindfolds.

When you were born, the doctor said, "Let's hope for a miracle."

Source: Chat GPT